Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The claims are generally narrative and indefinite, failing to conform with current U.S. practice. They appear to be a literal translation into English from a foreign document and are replete with grammatical and idiomatic errors. For example, is “the oil passage is provided to the piston” (claim 3) supposed to be -- the oil passage is provided in the piston--?

Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1 line 7-8 “a piston pin arranged to pass the cylinder and one end of the connecting rod at the same time” does not appear to make any sense. In claim 1 line 9-11 “an oil passage formed to make a clearance...in communication with an outside of the clearance” is confusing. Suggest that —and communicating with another portion of the piston— replace “in communication with an outside of the clearance”.

Claims not specifically mentioned are indefinite, since they depend from one of the above claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. § 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 102(b) as being anticipated by Lindstrom. Lindstrom discloses a compressor comprising a connecting rod (64) connected between a crank shaft (20) and a piston (34) for converting rotational movement of the crank shaft into reciprocating movement of the piston; a piston pin connecting one end of the connecting rod with the piston; an oil passage formed to make a clearance between an inside surface of the one end of the connecting rod and an outside surface of the piston pin (at end of 62) and communicates (via 84, 86) with opposite sides of a hollow (94) in a bottom end of the piston.
